

FATAL SHOOTING AFFRAY.

Thomas W. Belvin Mortally Wounds Arthur Nelson.

Between four and five o'clock Wednesday afternoon a difficulty occurred at the house of Lily House, colored, on Council street, between Thomas W. Belvin, white, and Arthur Nelson, colored. The result of the fight was the fatal shooting of Nelson by Belvin, and Belvin received a painful though not serious wound on the side of the head. Belvin stated that night that he was shot, but others say the wound was inflicted with a piece of board. Nelson was shot with a 38 calibre pistol, the ball passing entirely through his abdomen. His intestines were perforated in five or more places. He was taken to the Baker & Dick Infirmary soon after the shooting. Belvin was arrested immediately after the difficulty by Policeman Seymour and a warrant issued by Magistrate Wells, charging him with assault and battery with intent to kill. His attorney, Marion Moise, Esq., obtained bond for him from Magistrate Wells and he was released at 7 o'clock that night. The bond was in the sum of $1,000, and J. Singleton Moore and J. Diggs Wilder were the sureties.

Mr. Belvin lives at Claremont, where he runs a store and is postmaster also.

Nelson succumbed to the wound. Nelson died at 3 o'clock Friday morning from the pistol wound in the abdomen inflicted on Wednesday afternoon by Thomas W. Belvin. The body was removed Friday morning to the house of Lily House, where the shooting occurred, and Coroner Moore summoned a jury and began the inquest at 10 o'clock.

The testimony of Lily House was, in effect, that Belvin was sitting in front of the fire and she thought he was asleep, when he suddenly fired at Nelson. She screamed and grabbed Belvin's arm to prevent his shooting again. Lily screamed also, thinking Belvin had been shot. Arthur Nelson ran into the room and caught hold of Belvin's arm and he and Belvin struggled with Belvin trying to get the pistol away from him. Belvin was under the influence of liquor, and after struggling with him a few seconds he set down in the chair, but continued to hold on to the pistol. Just then Warren Nelson, a boy, ran in and struck Belvin in the head with a piece of board. She was looking for something to strike Belvin with, but before she could find anything she heard the pistol fired again and Arthur boomed that he was shot.

The following is the testimony of Dr. S. C. Baker at the coroner's inquest over the dead body of Arthur Nelson, and the ante mortem statement of Arthur Nelson, which was reduced to writing by Dr. Baker in the presence of Dr. A. O. Dick:

Dr. S. C. Baker being duly sworn says: I was called at about 5 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 13, to the residence of Lily House in the city of Sumter to see Arthur Nelson who was said to be shot. I found him lying on a bed and suffering from a bullet wound in the abdomen. I told him that it was of a very serious nature and that the appearance would result fatally unless an operation should be performed and upon my advice he was removed to the Baker-Dick Infirmary, where the abdomen was opened and the wound explored, by me with the assistance of Drs. A. O. Dick and H. M. Stuckey.

The bullet entered about one and three-fourth inches below the navel and one and a fourth inches to the left side of the middle line. Upon opening the abdomen the bowels were found perforated in six places, and the contents partly escaped into the abdominal cavity. The blood vessels supplying the bowels were wounded in several places and he had lost a considerable amount of blood prior to the time when the operation was performed.

The flow of blood was checked as rapidly as possible and such openings as could safely be checked up were so treated. A small portion of bowel about three inches in length was so badly lacerated as to require removal and the ends of the gut were then brought together. This section of bowel which was removed, I have preserved.

In tracing the bullet it was found to have passed out of the abdominal cavity at a point on a level with the wound of entrance and about five inches to the left of the spinal column, where the bullet was found lodged just under the skin. Having passed in its course through the crest of the ileum or hip bone. The bullet appeared to be from a 38-calibre pistol and I here present it for examination.

Such injuries are always of a very serious nature and almost always result in death without an operation as was performed and few recover even with the operation, and I thus informed the man and his friends.

He stood the immediate effects of the operation fairly well, though he was extremely weak from the loss of blood. After the operation he was placed in bed and cared for but continued to grow weaker up to the time of his death, which occurred at 3:50 a. m. December 16th, 1899. Finding that he was growing weaker and believing that he was going to die, I obtained from him in the presence of Dr. A. O. Dick the following ante mortem statement. He was perfectly rational at the time that he made it and seemed to fully realize the seriousness of his condition. This statement was reduced to writing by me and at the end of it I signed it for him, he touching the pen as I made his mark, and I here append the statement as a part of my testimony.

After his death, I made a post mortem examination and found that he died as a result of the bullet wounds above described. The foregoing is my testimony.

S. C. Baker, M. D.

ANTE MORTEM STATEMENT OF ARTHUR NELSON.

I was out in the back yard of the dwelling of my sister, Lily House, carrying a horse, when I heard a pistol shot coming from the direction of the house. I ran into the front room on the side of the house towards the cemetery and I saw Tom Belvin with a pistol in his hand and my sister, Sallie, trying to take it away from him or trying to hold the pistol up to keep from getting shot. I ran up and caught hold of the pistol to try to take the pistol away from Mr. Tom Belvin and protect her. He had already shot once and I thought he was going to shoot at her again. Mr. Belvin was in arm's length of my sister when I got in and pointing the pistol towards her. As soon as I caught the pistol the pistol went off. My hand did not touch the pistol at all, but touched Mr. Belvin's hands and my sister's hands, which were holding the pistol. Mr. Belvin had hold of the handle part of the pistol and my sister had hold of the muzzle part. As soon as the pistol went off I felt that I was shot. I took a cramp pain in my stomach and in my legs and fell down on the floor and lay there until somebody lifted me up and laid me on the bed. When I ran into the room Mr. Belvin, my sister Sallie and my sister Lily House were the only persons in the room. I did not faint or lose consciousness after I was shot until I came to the hospital and was given chloroform. I remember every thing that happened just after the shooting. Warren and Sherman ran into the room after me. Mr. Belvin had succeeded in pulling Belvin down into a chair and began to call for the police. Warren had a piece of plank in his hand and ran up and hit Belvin in the head. Belvin then got up and ran out of the room. Mr. Belvin had been backwards and forwards there at the house all day and appeared to be drinking. Mr. Belvin and I had been friendly up to this time. This is all I know about it. Dr. Baker has told me that I am very dangerously wounded and will probably not recover, and I believe that what he says is true.

Signed at Baker-Dick Infirmary, Sumter, S. C., 9 p. m., Dec. 14th, 1899.

His Arthur X. Nelson. mark.

Another warrant was issued for Belvin for assault and battery with intent to kill. The warrant was sworn out by Sallie Nelson, who charges Belvin with attempting to shoot her. Deputy Sheriff Gaillard went to Claremont Friday to make the arrest, and Mr. Belvin was to be taken before Magistrate Folk, at Providence, that day.

Thomas W. Belvin Surrenders Himself.

The coroner's inquest over the body of Arthur Nelson was concluded Friday afternoon and the following verdict was rendered: "The said Arthur Nelson came to his death by gunshot wound in the hands of one Thomas W. Belvin, while the said Arthur Nelson and his sister, Sallie Nelson, were trying to take the pistol from the said Belvin."

A warrant was sworn out for the arrest of Belvin for murder and placed in the hands of Sheriff Pierson for execution, but Mr. Belvin being informed of the death of Nelson yesterday, he came to the city last night and surrendered himself. He was committed to jail and will remain there until proceedings can be taken by his attorney to secure his release on bond.

The warrant for his arrest for assault, with intent to kill, on Sallie Nelson was served by Deputy Sheriff Gaillard Friday, and Mr. Belvin was taken before Magistrate Folk at Providence, where he gave bond and was released. His bondsmen in this case was Mr. Henry L. Pinckney, of Stateburg.

Supposed Suicide in Augusta.

Mr. Obas W. Massabeau, a nephew of Capt. A. Mosely, of Spring Hill, was found dead in bed at a hotel in Augusta, Ga., on last Wednesday. He left a note asking that Capt. Mosely be notified. The inquest was held at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and the meagre evidence procured indicated that Mr. Massabeau committed suicide.

He Took Morphine.

Augusta Chronicle Dec. 14. One week and three days ago Mr. C. W. Massabeau of Camden, S. C., came to Augusta and engaged rooms at the Busch house, corner of Broad and Washington streets. He did not appear at breakfast yesterday morning and about noon it was decided that some one would call him, it being supposed that he had overlooked himself.

The chambermaid knocked loudly on the door of his room several times, but got no answer. She looked through the keyhole and saw that Mr. Massabeau was lying on the bed. She called assistance and the door was forced open, when it was found that the man was cold in death.

Mr. Massabeau was apparently enjoying good health, but for the past few days has been complaining of his heart and it was noticed that he appeared unwell on Tuesday night when he retired, but nothing was thought of it.

Mr. Massabeau was a man of about 30 years, and weighed about 155 pounds. When it was found that he was dead, Dr. J. B. Morgan was at once notified and went down to investigate.

The following letter was found in the room:

"To Mrs. Busch. "Kind Friend: I am feeling very badly this afternoon and wish to leave some notice, knowing that I have heart trouble. I now, as I am going to retire, feel worse than usual, and, supposing I should not live, as I feel very weak, will quietly leave you notice as to where you can send my remains and things of value already."

"You can send my remains to Capt. A. Mosely, Camden, S. C. His address is: 'Capt. A. Mosely, Smithville, S. C., Sumter county.' If any mail comes to my address please send it to: 'Capt. A. Mosely, Smithville, S. C., Sumter county.' 'Make your charges and all expenses well be paid.'"

"Obas W. Massabeau."

Dr. Morgan was not satisfied with appearances and he, with the assistance of Drs. Holiday and Schriber, made analysis of the contents of the stomach and found plain traces of morphine.

Dr. Morgan notified the coroner and an inquest was held, the verdict being in accordance with the finding of the examining physicians.

ACCIDENT AT STATE FARM.

Mill Stone Burst Demolishing Building and Wounding Two Civilians.

Hagood, Dec 19—A serious accident happened at the State farm last Saturday afternoon. While the weekly ration was being ground on the grist mill one of the rocks burst. The mill was completely wrecked and pieces of the rock were buried in every direction, doing great damage to the building. Two convicts were present at the time, one of whom was seriously if not fatally wounded. One of his arms was broken and his shoulder badly crushed. The other fared a little better, though he was badly wounded by a piece of timber or rock striking him in the stomach. It was a miracle that both of them were not instantly killed.

MYSTERIOUS BURGLARY.

Safe at Hogan's Market Opened and Robbed.

Sometime between the close of business Saturday night and the opening of Hogan's meat market Monday morning the safe was opened, the money vault forced open and $60 85 in cash and about $190 in receipts stolen. The outer door of the safe was not broken or disfigured in the slightest degree, but the combination was unlocked and relocked after the cash vault was removed. The cash vault was forced with an old chisel, which was found near by, and the wheel-work around the draw was considerably broken and mutilated in doing so. The cash vault was found this morning in the lot in the rear of the meat market where it had been taken, apparently, to be broken open. It is thought by Mr. Hogan that an entrance was effected through the back door, there being a slit in the wire of the screen door just above the lock. Nothing in the market except the safe was disturbed and the robbery was not discovered until the safe was opened. Mr. Hogan was in the market Sunday for a few minutes and although he noticed nothing wrong it is possible that the robbery may have occurred on Saturday night, for unless he had opened the safe and discovered the loss he began an investigation it is not probable that he would have observed that the wire in the door had been cut.

Altogether the robbery is a most mysterious affair and there is no clue that the police can take up in the effort to apprehend the burglar. The fact that the combination was worked, the safe opened and relocked, is a circumstance that is almost inexplicable and appears to indicate that either some one had learned the combination or an expert safe cracker did the work.

The Military Ball.

The walls are green, Red, white and blue, The music is sweet And so are you.

That is what one of the young soldiers said to his fair partner last Thursday night, and that about summed up the situation. The army itself looked like a corner from fairy land—American fairy land, for the national colors were everywhere—red, white and blue. Where there were not flags, there was bunting, and twining in and out of everything was the green smilax.

The decorating of the hall was under the charge of Misses Moore, Manning and Cooke, who had volunteered their time and labor to the company for the occasion. Under their skillful hands, and directed by their nimble and fertile with the bare hall was soon transformed to a bower of beauty. Back of the music stand a large United States flag was draped between the two windows. In the folds of the flag was pinned a shield and eagle. Smilax descended on each side and was gathered under the flag. Over each window in the back was more smilax, while small flags were crossed above. The music stand in the rear of the hall was carpeted in red and draped with bunting, with which the steps were covered. Beside the stand on either hand was a stack of arms, and above the bayonets from the muzzle of the guns waved the colors. Smilax twined over the arms, midway in the hall being the old S. L. Confederate flag showing its wounds and scars. Bunting was drawn the entire length of the north wall and was gathered at each window and column. Above each window and on each panel between flags were crossed and at each intersection was a bunch of smilax. Over the opposite wall long vines of smilax were most effectively trailed, while groups of flags relieved with color the white and green.

But the most striking piece of decoration in the whole of the army was the wall to the left of the entrance floor. Here Capt. Lee had worked out a design in flags and smilax which was most favorably commented on by all.

Across the ceiling forming diamonds and triangles ran the bunting, falling to the floor in each corner in a graceful fold. Even here, however, the tireless workers did not cease, for the seats and the water table were all wrapped and garnished with color. The owner of the water cooler objected to its being punctured with a tack, so at last the decorations came to an end.

But the dance itself? That of course could not be otherwise than a success. Mingling with the usual dainty dresses of the maidens and the grave black of the men was the brighter blue of the uniforms, with the gold of the officers and the white stripes of the "non-coms." Those of the company who were detailed with the band furnished the strains to which all kept time, and the dance music of the Fourth Regiment Band was pronounced a great success, the time especially being perfect. About 25 couples and many more staged enjoyed dance after dance until the supper was served, and after that Lieut. Burgess' whistle kept the german going until after 3 when the order to retreat was sounded, and the forces retired in good order.

The supper, under the direction of Messrs. Hood and Auld, was quite excellent and well served. It consisted of turkey with cranberry, ham, thin bread and butter, olives, salad, pickles, coffee and fruit.

Every one is thoroughly satisfied with last night's entertainment. The company had put forth their best efforts, and they were crowned with success.

Some of the visitors were: Misses Holcombe and Barnwell and Mr. Frierston, Sumter; Miss May Wilson, Manning; Miss Ida Vaughn, Camden; Miss Cook, Richmond; Miss Simon, Florence; Miss Cohen, Washington; Asst.
